THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1857.

THE WORTH OF MONEY-Usury-Days of Grace For several years past the commercial world has been excited by schemes looking to the repeal of the various laws that now exist upon the subject of usury in the several States. The merchants of New York have taken a lead in this matter, and been very earnest and unanimous in petitioning their Le ture to remove the common restrictions upon the use of money. They allege that money has become a common article of merchandize, and that its value depends entirely upon the demand and supply-that it would be quite as unjust to fix the price of flour or pork by legislative enactment as the interest that should be paid for the use of money Hence is argued the necessity of abrogating the penalties to which capitalists are liable who demand and receive for loans a rate of interest higher than that legally established. The same question is being discussed in Pennsylvania with much freedom and earnestness. In Indiana, as we have already noticed, a repeal of the usury laws is being agitated, and here in Kentucky, as will be recollected, the Legislature of 1854 discussed various projects for the establishment of a conventional rate of interest.

It is argued by those who favor the repeal of all usury laws that, with the abolition of restrictions upon the use of money, the supply would increase in proportion to the demand, and consequently that the price would rule infinitely lower than it does now, as it would bring into the field of competition anitalists who are now fearful of is both the principal loaned and the accruing interest, on account of the legal established rates. There are other reasons alleged in favor of the proposed repeal that we need not mention, as they will instantly be suggested upon reflection to every intelligent mercantile mind.

Another matter of importance to commercial into sts is the abolition of days of grace, a bill to that purport having been introduced in the New York Legislature. The custom of allowing three days of grace upon bills of exchange, drafts payable at sight, and those which are payable upon a subsequent day, if drawn upon a bank or banker, is regarded as behind the present commercial age and not suited to that directness of purpose which characterizes the mercantile operations of the present day. The principal difficulties which have arisen appear to have their origin in bills of exchange growing out of the diversities which prewail with respect to them among the various States of the Union. For instance: In Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, North Carolina, South Carolina, Wisconsin, and Ohio, it is provided by statute that days of grace be allowed on bills of exchange payable at sight. In Kentucky, Indiana, Alabama. and Texas, days of grace are allowed on bills of exchange payable at sight, though not provided by statute. In Louisiana, days of grace are allowed on sight bills, but the usage is to pay on presentation. In Vermont and Connecticut, days of grace are disallowed by statute.

In the following States, days of grace are not allowed on bills payable at sight, by the usage among banks and merchants; but no legal decisions have confirmed this usage as law: Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, Georgia, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Tenness

In Arkansas, the statutes provide that "foreign and inland bills shall be governed by the law of merchants as to days of grace, protest and notice."

The most singular freak that we have heard of the winter playing is that related to us by the hier of a certain establishment in the city. Upon ming his vault the other morning, for the purpose of getting out the specie, he found the silver pieces en tightly together. It was with some difficulty that the money could be thawed out.

A man, named J. B. Samuels, had his pocket picked, on Tuesday, at Vernon, Jennings county, Ind., of one thousand seven hundred dollars and two promissory notes of five hundred dollars each.

The results of sixty years of experience have shown that Jefferson's political foresight and wisdom was greatly superior to that of Hamilton, and that his philosophical and meditative mind best comprehended the kind of government and institutions suitable to this country. While we give all due credit to the patriotism and illustrious revolutionary services of Hamilton and Jefferson, there are few at this day that will dispute the judgment of posterity in awarding to Jefferson the palm of greater statesmanship and higher intellectual gifts than those possessed by his rival, transcendent as all will admit them to be.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

We are of the "few" who "dispute" this and we

We are of the "few" who "dispute" this, and we do not believe, moreover, that, in doing so, we "dispute the judgment of posterity." It is a mistake, in the first place, to suppose that "the judgment of posterity" upon the relative merits of Hamilton and Jefferson has been pronounced. It is not even formed. Nor has the proper time for its formation arrived. Jefferson is still the demigod of a numerous if not a powerful party in our midst with whom simply to question his supremacy and infallibility is to utter the most unpardonable of heresies. And of course the impulse of mere antagonism, if nothing more, suffices to excite a corresponding or nearly corresponding depreciation among their opponents. No such thing, therefore, as a dispassionate examination of his character is now possible. At all events no such examination has yet been made.

When, however, it is made, and legitimately anounced, we are not by any means sure that the result will accord with the confident opinion of our Cincinnati cotemporary. On the contrary, we are persuaded that it will not. We are thoroughly persuaded that it should not. In our judgment the statesmanship of Hamilton was as matchless and supreme as the patriotism of Washington. It was transcendent. In sagacity, in quickness, depth, and compass of thought, in variety and accuracy of attainment, in force and volume and elevation of character, in the masterly art of adapting means to great ends, in the power of conceiving, digesting, systematising, and vivifying the complete affairs of a nation, in brief, in the union of high and disciplined intellect with consummate practical ability, Hamilton, in our opinion, ranks above every other American statesman, and among the very first of all other countries. The cant about his distrust of the people, which has done so much to veil his splendid political genius from the eye of the masses, is utterly contemptible. It served its purpose as a party cry, in the early history of the nation, and ought to be left undisturbed with the other rubbish of the day. A cultivated man should scorn to stoop to it. Hamilton loved the people too well to flatter them; and every day attests in some new and striking form the wisdom of his scrupulous forbearance. Undoubtedly the existing state of the nation is one of the most eloquent and triumphant vindications of his political forethought which time ever bestowed upon the prescience of a statesman. The laxness and compliance so prominent in the character of his great rival have proved the chief disorganizing elements of the nation, which, in their present fearful activity, nothing but something of his own lofty and unbending integrity can arrest. But in this the nation, though rich in all things else, is poor indeed.

Mr. George Sumner, in a recent lecture on the past and present condition of the Spanish people, thus authoritatively corrects a prevailing historical error:

It is time that the immense sham with which Spain contrived to intimidate all Europe was blown to the winds. It was Spanish policy to give the rest of the world an idea that her wealth was boundless, and it has been, up to the present time, very difficult to contradict successfully the great historical error thus established. It was my fortune while in Spain to bring to light facts which set the whole matter at rest. I received from the Spanish government permission to search among the archives of the Indies, at Seville, where all the archives of America are kept, from the time of Ferdinand and Isabella to the present day. Here I found the original lists of all the gold and silver received from America during the first flifty years after the conquest of Cortex; and you will be surprised to learn that during the thirty years in which all Europe was filled with the accounts of millions upon millions of gold and silver drawn from the Mexican mines by Spain—accounts upon which Robertson and Prescott, and all other writers upon Spain, have taken for granted—during all these years the gold received, if coined in our mints, would amount—the gold to only $498,188, and the silver to only $4250. Beth together would make only the patiry sum of $503,400—less than half the sum we are in the habit of receiving every fortught, from Caifornia. I have submitted these figures to Baron Humboldt, the learned and celebrated traveler, and he has written to me that he adopts them entirely, and that, in any subsequent edition of his work on Mexico which may be published, they shall be incorporatirely, and that, in any subsequent edition of his work on Mexico which may be published, they shall be incorpora-ted. It was not from the mines of America, but from op-pression and ruinous taxation of her own people, that Spain derived the wealth with which she wased expensive wars

This authentic statement knocks the basis from a world of eloquent moralizing in the literature of modern politics. Statesmen and political speculators will now have to cast about for some new theory of the downfall of Spain. Mr. Sumner himself, we believe, attributes that event chiefly to the policy of the court in making productive labor disgraceful. His lecture as a whole is spoken of in very admiring terms by the press.

Judge Haliburton, the author of Sam Slick, delivered an address, on the "British Colonies," at Manchester, England, a short time since, in which, among other amusing things, he paraphrased the heraldic motto of Lord Palmerston, "Flecti non frangt," which he described as "the motto of a thorough politician," as follows: "I bend to the popular gale, but as soon as it is over I spring back to my old position." This is giving the "thorough politician" a little too much backbone. We can't help thinking that Haliburton, with all his sympathetic "cuteness," has failed to comprehend this particular "specimen" or he would never have set him up in this way. Wendell Phillips is happier. He defines a politician as "one who serves God as far as he can without offending the Devil." This is epigrammatic and not far from the mark.

The United States House of Representatives passed the new coinage bill on Thursday, and, after it shall have been approved by the President, the Spanish and Mexican quarters, shillings, and sixpences, now in circulation, will be rapidly withdrawn, as the value at which they will only be received by the Federal officers at twenty per cent. below their nominal value, and the trading community will naturally adopt the Government standard. The new cent coin provided for in the bill will be issued immediately, and the mickel to be used will give additional value to the mines in Pennsylvania. Nowhere else is it found of equal purity.

Correction .- In our publication of yesterday in Capt. Coleman's letter on the Water Works question, we said "exception of any office," where we should have said "acceptor of any office" in which the city is concerned.

A resolution was presented on Friday, at Harrisburg, instructing the Senators from Pennsylvania

DISPENSARIES .- Every day's observation makes as more painfully aware of the suffering amongst the poor in our midst. The rigor of the season is bringing calamities upon a class of our citizens heretofore usually exempt from suffering. The suspension of navigation and the deficiency of coal for manufacturing purposes have thrown out of employment great numbers of mechanics and working men, who are thus added to the list of sufferers. To the scarcity of food and fuel, in too many instances, sickness is added. There are many who need medical treatment, who cannot be admitted to the Hospital, and who are daily exposed, not only to freezing and starvation, but to the stronger agony of sickness. Something should be done for them. Our Relief and Employment Association to a limited extent gives work to the able-bodied, but they cannot care for the sick. There are many who have homes and friends, and wherewithal to keep out cold and starvation, yet they have nething to spare from their scanty means to provide medical attendance or medicine. Our readers have, perhaps, nev er considered how much suffering might be relieved, how much life saved by a little timely medical aid. Where can it be had? Physicians, to their honor be it said, are ever ready to visit and prescribe for the poor. But how can the poor get medicine? Dispensaries have been established by private charity, but even upon ordinary occasions the tax upon those by whom they are supported is very onerous, and now, at this season of great want, privation, suffering, and sickness, it is much greater than they can sustain or should be allowed to sustain. Such institutions should not be left alone to private charity. Even among the ancient Greeks there were three kinds of charities sustained at the public expense. One for strangers, another for the indigent, and a third expressly for the sick. In almost all of our large cities dispensaries are provided at public expense to give medicines and medical attendance to the poor. Buildings are provided, apothecaries egularly employed, medicines furnished, and durng certain hours competent physicians are always in attendance to prescribe for those who come for relief or to visit those who need their attention. The medicines furnished gratuitously will cost to the dispensary probably not one-tenth of what would have to be paid for it to another apothecary. The whole cost of the treatment of over thirty thou sand patients at the dispensary and at their homes by the New York Middle Dispensary was less than

We hope this subject will be taken hold of by the benevolent among our city fathers.

We are informed that a movement will be made in the City Council for the establishment of one or mere city dispensaries. We are not informed as to the details of the project that will be presented, exccpt that it is proposed that the attending physicians and surgeens shall be elected by trustees appointed by the General Council. The wants of the people of Louisville require the establishment of public institutions of this character.

THE INDIANA BROKEN BANKS. - A resolution ras passed by the Indiana House of Representatives on Monday morning, requesting the Attorney General to give his opinion, immediately, as to the responsibility and liability of the State for the amount of bonds deposited in the Auditor's office as security for the issue of the Shawnee and Gramercy Banks.

The Depositors in the Gramercy Bank have threatned depredations on the building. The Lafayette Journal, in noticing the matter says:

There are various reports as to the amount of the depose its at the Gramercy Bank. They range from five to thirty thousand dollars. They are generally in small amounts and affect parties who are least able to bear the losees. In some instances, however, the amount reaches as high as a thousand dollars, which sum Mr. Dell, of the Union Hotel, we are sorry to hear, loses. Some excitement exists among the sufferers, and a demonstration upon the building was apprehended yesterday.

The same paper states that some $25,000 or $30, 000 of the bonds lifted from the Auditor's office would be saved, as they had not been formally transferred at the East. If the bonds are recovered, they will be applied, of course, in the redemption of the notes of the defunct Banks. This, with the Auditor and his securities, will make the outstanding circulation of the Banks comparatively safe.

The Indianapolis Journal advises persons not to sacrifice the notes of the Shawnee and Gramercy Banks. They will, eventually, it thinks, be re-

Mr. Nexsen, Jr., brother of C. F. Nexsen, of the Gramercy, has had charge of the Shawnee Bank, at Attica, for the past few months, and closed its doors immediately on the suspension of the Gramercy. A few citizens of Attica assembled and forced an entrance, and compelled Nexon to make an assignment to Joseph Pool and P. S. Veeder. During the same evening and the next day the excitement became so intense that Mr. Nexon concluded to take a "French leave," and accordingly went down to Covington. He was followed to that place by a number of the "victims" of the failure, and by some process was arrested and lodged in the Covington

Prison REVOLT .- There has been a revolt among the convicts in the Auburn (N. Y.) penitentiary. A contractor directed a convict to do a piece of work The convict replied thal "he would see him d-d first." The disodedlent man was arrested and put into a dungeon. On the following morning some sixty convicts gathered hammers and other tools, and formed a circle ready for a fight. A committee of prisoners was sent to demand the instant release of the man confined in the dungeon. The committee did not return as soon as was expected, so the whole body armed themselves with what tools they could get and marched to the hospital. The prisoner was then released, and the convicts their resumed labor. Things were quiet, but the Auburn Guards were or dered to hold themselves in readiness to come at moment's notice to the rescue, as further trouble was anticipated. This yielding by the prison officers will give the convicts new courage, and we may expect to hear of further trouble.

There was a fire in Frankfort, Ind., on the 17th inst., destroying the Odd Fellows' Hall. The building was a three-story brick and occupied by Messrs. Kelleys & Smith, E. & J. Hoover, merchants, Pence & Brandon, clothing men, and G. I. Kempf, grocery. Messrs. Suit & Cowan and R. P. Davidson, as lawyers' offices; Dr. Carter, as a physician's office; and Mr. Potter, daguerrean artist. The third story was occupied by the Odd Fellows and by to vote for the admission of Kansas as a free State. Messrs. Scott & Tyler, as the Republican office.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river here as well as at New Albany was nearly closed yesterday. The Jeffersonville ferryboat made, however, a trip last night, bringing over the railroad passengers and mails. The New Albany ferry-boat made a few trips, encountering much difficulty, but it is thought that the river will be closed there this morning. This has not happened within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

The Cincinnati Commercial, of yesterday, has the following:

Out of thirty-six steamers ice bound here, twenty-three are owned or insured in Pittaburg and vicinity, and the balance—thirteen—here.

Mr. Lewis Pierce, pilot of the steamer Delta, arrived here yesterday, having left her laid up at the foot of President's Island, on the Mississippi shore, awaiting a sufficient rise to let her up. He left the Delta on last Thursday. He only sounded seven feet scant there and falling, while the boat was drawing ten feet water. She worked very hard for twenty-four hours to get over the bar, and while there encountered a snag, punching a hole in her starboard side just aft of the sah-pan. She shipped about two feet water before the leak could be stopped. Fortunately, however, she did not damage here, cargo—there being a large lot of molasses in the hold, below the sugar. She ran through heavy ice coming up, encountering the first as low down as Vickaburg. Mr. Pieroe informs us that the Memphis and Vickaburg. At present these boats cannot load to over from six to six and a half feet. It was supposed the John Simonds would be compelled to lay up on her next upward trip, on account of low water.

The Highflyer was to have left Paducah in time to arrive at Cairo on last Monday, where Capt. T. T. Wright intends loading her for New Orleans, with the intention of starting during the present week.

FIRE LAST NIGHT .- About 8 o'clock last evening fire broke out in the lower moulding shop connect ed with Messrs. Wallace, Lithgow, & Co.'s foundery. on the square between Second and Third streets and Water and Main. There were several persons at work in the establishment at the time, and the watchman, engaged about the premises, first discovered the roof in the neighborhood of the cupola flames, but, as all the water was frozen, they availed nothing. The large frame building was almost immediately consumed, and its entire contents, consist ing of a variety of patterns, which will be difficult to replace. Two frame buildings, fronting on Water street and belonging to Mr. J. McBurnie, were destroyed. For some time the fire wore a very threatoning aspect and the people living on Second and Water streets very generally removed into the street their scanty household goods. We have rarely seen such an exposure of squalor and destitution, as last evening in the abodes of these poor people.

It was with the greatest difficulty that the fire engines could work. The water actually froze in the hoze-the Mechanic became disabled, the Relief was frozen up, and those that were in order accomplished but little.

Messrs. Wallace, Lithgow, & Co.'s loss will b from $3,000 to $5,000, partially covered by insurance. It is not their intention to rebuild. In the spring they will erect an extensive foundery on the corner of Main and Clay streets, and push their business with redoubled energy.

THE WASHINGTON FOUNDERY .- A GREAT IM-PROVEMENT.-We are gratified to hear of a very important improvement connected with our manufacturing interests, which will be consummated just as soon as the spring season opens. Mr. John Gault formerly of the firm of Inman, Gault, & Co., of the Fulton Foundery, has become associated with Dumesnil, Bell, & Co., under the name of J. Gault & Co. This wealthy and enterprising firm have purchased the well known Washington Foundary of on the 12th of January. The President of the Sen-Messrs. Hewitt & Symmes, at a cost of $36,000, and ate opened that body by offering prayer, and the will hereafter conduct that extensive concern upon a House elected Mr. Matthias Speaker. A resolution larger scale than heretofore. Not content with its was offered to admit reporters inside of the bar, and present wast machine shops and other adjuncts, and that the Sergeant-at-Arms furnish them with tables determined to build up an establishment worthy of and seats. General Richardson objected to any "lythe city and the Southwest, they have bought of Mr. Wm. Inman 48 feet of additional ground fronting on Main street. Upon this lot will be erected new buildings, rendering the Washington Foundery as complete as possible. The foundery now has a frontage of sixty-two feet on Main, and of two hundred and fifty feet on Ninth street.

Messrs. Gault & Co., with large capital and great xperience in the business, will, we feel certain, conduct their establishment with such energy as to render more than satisfaction to the public. They will give particular attention to building plantation engines, fan mills, &c., as well as to the construction of steamboat engines of every size and description, and all other species of machinery.

THE CRIMINAL COURT .- Yesterday in the Circuit Court was occupied chiefly in motions for continuances, &c. The Commonwealth vs. Wm. C. Preston and Coker, for murder, was continued, and a nolle proseque entered in the case of Alonzo McCoy, for passing counterfeit money.

The docket is about exhausted, there being but two cases remaining for trial. These are the Commonwelth vs. the negro of Mr. Hikes, and Rufus King. We suppose the sheriff with his posse will start to Frankfort to-morrow with those convicted at

Mr. E. Merriam, the great weather-wise prophet of Brooklyn Heights, announces very gravely that it is folly to try to open the seals of the future, and that no man can tell what the weather will be ahead, even for a single day. That is a remark worthy of Jack Bunsby.

THE RAILROAD VOTE TO-DAY .- The stockhold ers in the Louisville and Frankfort Railroad should not forget to vote to-day for the subscription to the Big Sandy Railroad.

SEVERE SUFFERINGS IN THE SNOW .- A letter from Salt Lake City to the Baltimore Sun, says: from Salt Lake City to the Baltimore Sun, says:

We have dreadful accounts of the sufferings among the Mormon emigrants by the hand cart train, which is now in the mountains. The train contained three hundred and fifty souls; one seventh are already dead, and they are dying at the rate of tifteen per day. There are some six hundred more behind, of which we have heard nothing. We hope that they stopped at Laramie. It is impossible for them to get through this fall. The Mormons estimate that there are not less than 1,500 of their brethren yet to come in, and the mow is reported to be not less than a foot deep in the mountains.

The terrible severity of the winter at the Northwest is illustrated by the following adventure which befel a party of surveyors in Iowa last week, who took shelter from a snow storm in a ravine which seamed the prairie:

They pikehed their tent upon three feet of snow—rigged a stove whose pipe ran up through the top of the tent—abe and went to sleep. A difficulty of breathing aroused the party early, and it was discovered that the rawine had drifted check full, and that the snow was three feet above the top of the tent and the top of the pipe. Out of the entire surveying party of which they were a part, two men froze to death, two waded the prafrie snows in stocking feet, unsale to draw on their stiff books, and all were disabled, permanently or temporarily, by the freezing of the extremities.

A letter from Rev. J. Knibbs, a Methodist missionary in Wisconsin, gives the following details of terrible suffering:

terrible suffering:

I started on Tuesday morning, Dec. 23d, from the Lathrop settlement for Haney Valley, to attend service there on Wednesday. But I had not proceeded far before my horse's legs were covered with blood from going through the crust on the anow. I tried every possible means to induce him to keep on, both by walking before him and treaking the crust, and by driving, without avail; so I had to tie him to a tree and so in weach of a house.—Mr. Brown's, but it was near night and I could not find it, though I knew it was not far off. In this lost and bewildered state I wandered about for five nights and four days without seeing or hearing a living being or habitation, and with nothing to eat or drink, until I got here on Saturday night with just enough of life left to be numbered with the living. I don't know how to speak of the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Smith; it is beyond expression. If you, reverend six, would write and thank them I should feel somewhat relieved, because they think so highly of you.

I am new, by good nursing and unwearied attention, doing well. My feet are dreadfully frozen, my hands a little, and I am very deaf; but I hope to be able to attend to my duties again before long. I want to go to Lynxville tomorrow, if I can.

Mr. Brunson says that at Prairie du Chien in

Mr. Brunson says that at Prairie du Chien immense snow storms have fallen, and that the present winter is the most severe he has experienced on the frontier during his residence there, which has been for twenty-one years.

Speaking of the sufferings of Mr. Knibbs, he says they have been very great, and that he fears he will lose one or both his feet. He adds that Mr. K. was within two miles of several houses, but was so bewildered by the severe snow sterm and cold, that he could not move straight in any direction.

HARPER'S WEEKLY .- This new enterprize of the Franklin Square book barons has proven an immense failure. It was heralded by the country and city press as the to be marvel of the literary world; but all is in esse yet. LATEST FROM KANSAS. - Gov. Geary's Message. The Territorial Legislature convened at Lecompton ing scribblers" for free State papers. He said that he saw a man present who corresponded with the New York Tribune, and stated before the Investigating Committee in Leavenworth, when asked by Mr. Propper if he had the names of all the women ravished in the southern part of the Territory, that he "had not, but would have before night," and that the correspondent had belied every man in the Territory. Mr. Rees was in favor of admitting all reporters, and would admit "old Horace Greeley him self, just to see what a dirty dog he was," if present.

After some discussion the resolution was carried, but

The Governor calls are attention of the Legislative Assembly to errors and denissions in the statute-book, the result of hasty legislation, and recommends that they be corrected. He insists on the right of the people to elect all their officers, instead of having them appointed by the Legislature. The famous, or, rather, infamious, test oath act, so odious to the free State men of the Territory, is emphatically denounced by the Governor, and its repeal recommended. Abolition of the viva voce system of voting, and the adoption of the ballot plan, is urgently insisted on. To present illegal voting, a law, requiring a residence in the Territory of ninety, and in a certain district, ten days, is suggested. The present mode of selecting jurors by the Marshal, Sheriff, and Constable, is disproved by his Excellency, and their selection by lot recommended. The law in reference to "patrols," levyings tax on all other property for the especial protection of slave property, is recommended for repeal. The establishment of a thorough school system is suggested.

The scheme of a railroad running from the Territory, southward, through the Indian Territory and Texas, to the Guiff of Mexico, is suggested as the shortest and best route to the sea-board. The Governor says that he has suggested to Congress the justice of indemnifying the citizens of the Territory for the damages they sustained during the late troubles. He is in favor of securing to every citizen a homestead of 160 acres of land. The expediency of erecting a penitentiary has been brought before Congress.

During the session of the U. S. Agricultural Society, Mr. D. Jay Brown, of the Agricultural Bureau of the Patent Office, gave the result of his experience and investigations in regard to the culture in the United States of the Chinese sugar cane.

Sugar, he said, could sometimes be made from the dried stalks, but it was expensive. It contains saccharine matter as far north as the milky state can be had; in Massachusetts it has shown twenty-three per cent. of sugar; here in Washington fourteen per cent. It requires a dry soil and hot sun. It should not be planted so soon as Indian corn by several days. It will mature in less than a hundred days from the time of sowing the seed. For sugar it flourishes best on poor soil, but, for fattening animals, on rich soil. For sugar it should be harvested, or rather cut, late in the season, but for seed should be cut, and therefore planted earlier.

As a fodder crop, Mr. B. considered it as making a revolution in cattle-food all through the Union. The seed can be produced at the price of oats, at the rate of fifty or sixty bushels to the acre, and can be converted into bread or chocolate, fed to fowls, &c. It will give fifteen hundreds gallons of vinegar to the acre. The most northerly point of its growth is Minnesota. If the seed be cut off, it will sprout again and bear double, as last year in South Caro-

STATISTICS OF MISSOURI.-From the last annua report of the State Auditor of Missouri we learn that the census just taken will, when completed, show a total population of 900,000. The census of 1850 gave an aggregate of 682,996, and that of 1852 was 722,371. At this rate, Missouri will, in 1860, equal Kentucky and Tennessee. The value of the land in the State had increased from $31,512,391 in 1849 to $89,702,997 in 1856, and during the same period the value of personal property increased from $22,974,871 to $30,346,013. Still the city of Boston is worth more than twice as much.

A MONARCH IN MEXICO.-We learn from a Madrid paper, of the 24th ult., that General Santa Anna has proposed to the Queen's Government to establish s monarchy in Mexico, with a Spanish prince at its head, provided he should receive certain aid named by his agents. This plan-the old game of the exdictator-was opposed by some of the papers, unless the Mexican people should openly demand, and France and England should support such a change.

THE CONSUMPTIVE.—The Charleston News says "During the last six days twenty-nine persons, in the far gone stages of consumption, emigrating from the severity of the Northern climate, have visited the city, some to remain here during the winter, others, whose cases were at the last stage, going further southward."

There are six known survivors of the Dartmore prisoners: the nephew of "Mad Anthony Wayne," Christopher Smith, of Hadley; Jonathan Lander, of Greenfield; Wm. Baily, of Germantown; and Isaac Newell, of Newburyport, Mass. There is one other survivor in Baltimore.

LONGEVITY .- The Providence Journal gives the names and ages of seventy-two persons who died in that city, during the year 1856, aged seventy years and upwards.

The machine described below is in every respect inferior to the one noticed in our columns week or two since, and in several respects different. Yet it is possible that the inventor of the new war engine got his leading ideas from Reynolds. If so, Reynolds was the inventor of the new machine, in the same sense that Fulton, or Fitch, or some person farther back than either of them, was the inventor of the steam engine. In either case, the Scientific American's recent denial of the existence of such an engine is shown to be erroneous:

[From the Scientific American.] GREAT WAR ENGINE.

MESSES. EDITORS: Noticing in your issue of January 10th, an article under the head of "Wonderful New-Wai Machine," in which great doubts are expressed in regard to the invention of so terrible a machine, I hasten to lay before your readers something of the history of a machine invented in the year 1896-7, by Mr. Benj. Reynolds, of Kinderhook, in the State.

The machine referred to was called a "centrifugal battery," of a circular form, 22 inches in diameter, and three inches in thickness. This machine was put in operation by means of two cranks, one on each side of the carriage on which it was placed, for the purpose of being transported from place to place.

The writer of this article was one of three persons who, during the autumn of the year 1857, exhibited it to the officers of the U. S. arsenal at Gibbonsville, when under the command of the late General Worth, who invited the Governor and the heads of the State Departments te witness the exhibition. All who witnessed its operation spoke of it in terms of the highest commendation. Col. Worth advised us to take it to the city of Washington without delay, as he thought it of great importance to the country; but requested us to exhibit it at Westpoint, N. Y., on our way thither, which we did. It was put in operation by order of Col. Derusie, who then commanded at that place. At 110 yards, the balls of 20.2 weight were thrown through three thickness of 1½-inch Georgia pine, at the rate of more than one thousand per minute! The Commandant and Professors expressed great astonishment at the power of the machine, which was put in operation on all occasions by one man at each of the cranks.

The third trial took place at Greenleaf Point, D. C., under the inspection of Captain Ramsay, President Van Buren and most of the heads of Departments of the United States being present; the effect upon those who had witnessed its operation being the same as upon those who had witnessed its operation at the other places.

The fourth trial was had before a committee of Congress appointed for that purpose. At this trial the committee exercised great perseverance; first, in regard to its power and range, and second, in regard to the number of shots projected in a given time. On this occasion the power applied was as before, one man at each of the two cranks. The target, three thicknesses of one-inch pine planks, at the distance of 150 yards. Each ball was projected through the target and falling from three to four hundred yards beyond it into th

A model, drawings, and specifications of this machine were duly deposited in the Patent Office of the United States at that time. A four-pound battery of this describtion is in course of construction in this city at the present time.

To Keep the Feet Warmen Railroad Cars. Bayard Taylor in a late letter to the N. Y. Tribune

We left Berlin on the 29th, and came directly hither, a distance of 180 miles, by railroad. I noticed in the cars a new contrivance for warming the feet, which in our case was wholly successful. Long, flat boxes of tin or zinc, covered with carpeting and filled with hot sand, are placed upon the floor, between the seats, so that the passengers on both sides can make use of them. These boxes were mildly warm when we started, and not quite cold when we arrived at Hamburg, eight hours afterward. ly warm when we started, and not quite or rived at Hamburg, eight hours afterward.

SENATORIAL CIRCUMNAVIGATION OF THE GLOBE. The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Post | Times:

I am informed that Senators Seward of New York and Rusk of Texas will, on the expiration of the session, start on a nine months' tour round the globe. They will pass across the Isthmus by Nicaragua, thence to California, thence to the Sandwich Islands (where Senator Seward will deliver an agricultural address), thence to China, and, after passing through India and Asia Minor, Egypt, and possibly Southern Europe, will sail through the Stratis of Gibraltar to the United States, so as to attend Congress in the early part of next session. A glorious programme of travel. May each of them bring back the wisdom of Ulysses!

A Deserved Testimonial.—The Americans of New Orleans lately presented Mrs. Prewett, the editress of the Yazoo (Miss.) The connubial happiness of a man is not deper dent on his obtaining in marriage any given individual; though the fastidiousness of the young men often indicates that they deem happiness or misery inseparably connected with some particular young woman. Generally, the man who is happy as a husband would have selected with ordinary prudence. Happiness, in such a relation, depends more on a Happiness, in such a relation, depends more on man's efforts thereto than on the peculiarities of his wife.—Johnson's Encyclopedia of Instruction.

The finest house in New York is the one belonging to Mr. O. Roberts, in Eighteenth street. According to a correspondent in the Albany Argus, the cost of this building was $250,000. The first house warming given in this mansion was in the form of a charity concert by amateurs. Some 300 tickets were sold. Two dollars was the fixed price, but in some instances ten times that sum was paid by wealthy

The Word Creole.—Some suppose the Creole to be nearly black, imagining the word to be used as a term of disgrace or reproach. The Spanish word Crillo (Creole) was originally applied to the descendants of whites in Mexico, Sonth America, and the West Indies, in whom white blood, unmixed with that of every other race, existed. This is still with that of every other race, existed. This is still the only acceptance of the term in the West Indies. A Mulato is the offspring of a white and negro, a Quadroon of a white and a Mulatto, being one-quarter black; a Mustee of a white and a Quadroon, or one-eighth black, and a Mustafina of a white and a Mustee, being one-sixteenth black. Terms implying a much less admixture of black blood are not been also as the state of the state ing a much less admixture of black blood are prev Creole simply means a white native alent in Cuba.

Causes of Insanity .- The annual report of the Su perintendent of the Massachusetts State Lunatic Asylum at Worcester, assigns the causes of insanity in patients admitted the last year as follows: Forty-eight cases arose from ill health of various kinds, 24 from intemperance, 10 from jealousy, 9 from religious excitement, and 5 from spiritualism. Of the whole number of cases 36 were hereditary and 25 hereditary and periodical. "The popular excitements of the day," says the report, "have not brought us so many patients as is generally believed by the community at large."

Human Life.—It is a common impression that the average duration of human life is lessening, though a moment's thought of the improved hygiene of the present day, and the increased comfort of the masses, would lead to a different conclusion. The facts support this favorable view. Prof. Buchanan, in a re-cent lecture in Cincinnati, gave the following figures. His data we have not seen, but we can imagine none that would furnish more than an ap-proximation. In the latter part of the sixteenth century one-half of all who were born died under 5 years of age; the average longevity of the whole population was but eighteen years. In the seven oppulation was but eighteen years. In the seven-eenth century one-half the population died under twelve years. But in the first sixty years of the eighteenth century one-half of the population lived over twenty-seven years. In the latter forty years ning of the present century one-half exceeded forty years; and from 1838 to 1845, one-half exceeded forty-three. The average longevity at these successive periods has been increased from eighteen years in the sixteenth century up to 43.7 by the last reports.

New Project for a Ship Canal across the ISTHMUS OF PANAMA .- A Mr. Wm. McDermott, describing himself as a surgeon in the British navy, formerly attached to H. M.'s ship Espiegle, employed on the Darien Expedition, has recently addressed a letter to the London Times, giving the details of a new project for cutting a ship canal across the Isthmus of Panama, which he considers feasible, from Caledonia Bay on the Atlantic side to the Gulf of San Miguel on the Pacific. The entire length of the route is said not to exceed 35 miles; and, judging from Mr. McDermott's description, the engineering difficulties are not serious, except at one spot, where a tunnel of three miles long must be cut through a mountain 930 feet high. The line of the projected work is divided into seven stages. The Times recommends the proposition to public discussion and minute investigation, with a view to elicit more full and accurate information as to the feasibility of this or any similar enterprise. The N. Y. Journal of Commerce adds:

N. Y. Journal of Commerce adds:

Independent of the natural obstacles to a ship canal any where across the Isthmus of Panama, even were it proven that they could be overcome without an exorbitant outlay of time and capital, the concession for the construction of the work from the government of New Granada can only be obtained with the consent of the Panama Railroad Company, in whose charter it is expressly stipulated (art. VI) that, "the New Granadian Government shall have no power to undertake, nor to permit any other person to undertake without the concurrence of said (P. R. R.) Company, the opening of any maritime canal to unite the two oceans across the said Isthmus of Panama."

It may be that, considering the length of time necessary for the completion of so gigantic an undertaking, and the increase of travel and freight over their road which would naturally result while it was in progress, the Panama Railroad Company would not refuse the required permission, on reasonable terms; but we have reason to believe that they do not attach much importance to Mr. McDermott's scheme, and that they are inclined to class it in the same category with the other Isthmus Canal projects which have been brought forward, and abandoned as impracticable.

A SAD PICTURE.—The miseries of India are thus strongly depicted in a late number of the London

WONDERFUL ASTRONOMICAL DISCOVERIES. To the Editors of the Lousville Bulletin:

There were many learned, labored, and lengthy expla-ations of the phenomenon, to the great satisfaction of the tronger and wiser sex, and the infinite edification of the maile audience, and curious theories upon reflection and as laws in general, that would cause Newton, Franklin, cc., to stare with astonishment, if they could but have eard them

Imagine our surprise at finding Mercury attended by two admiring moons as a foil to his own brilliancy; to find that the moon, herself an attendant, lad employed two lesser satellites to accompany her in her travels; to find that every respectable star that could make a decent reflection was accompanied by two smaller ones. And, pursuing our observations, we were quite dumbfounded at discovering that, by holding a candle at a suitable distance from the mirror, reflected, we saw not only the light, but on either side a smaller jet of light.
Seriously, Mesers. Editors, what did you mean by publishing such a hoax? and thus setting all your readers agog with astronomical curiosity! You do not know how many cases of death from cold you may have occasioned by thus sending folks out these cold nights to admire the "Satellites of Jupiter." Just think of the serious consequences that may or have ensued, and be more particular how you hoax

By the way, Messrs, Editors, you at least owe your readers an explanation of the illusion produced, and we claim it as an indemnity for lost time and wounded vanity. We acknowledge the corn—we were hoaxed. Now tell us how it is done.

A NEW FERRY.

Messes. Editors: In your paper of the 20th inst. you complain of the Jeffersonville and Louisville Ferry Company for neglecting to keep open the communication between the two places. Your remarks on the subject are perfectly just and well-merited. Nothing but the pressure of public opinion has kept the ferry boats from long since heims away to their old harbor, the Six-Mie Island. The company have so long enjoyed a monopoly of ferry rights, and have so long had things their own way, that they consider it their right to consult exclusively their own interests. They do just as they please, make as few trips as possible in the day, burn as little fuel as they can make out with, start as late and lie up as early in the evening as a due regard to their own interests requires. It is no longer worth while to expect the public to be sufficiently accommodated with one ferry at this point. To do justice to the increasing travel and transportation of property between the two cities, at least four ierry boats are necessary. The complaints of delay, turdinese, and indifference on the part of the managers of the present ferry are general in town and country. With the exclusive privileges which the company have long enjoyed, they are under the highest possible obligations to make every sacrifice for the public accommodation. Their stock must be very productive. If it is not, it is not for the want of a super abundance of business. Their boats are jammed and crammed from daylight until dark with every sort of vehicle, live stock, and footmen. I speak advisedly when I say that the receipts of the two boats now running are, upon an average, $200 per day. It is beyond all doubt a fortune to its owners. Another ferry, compelled to run until 10 o'clock at night, would vastly increase the business. The whole effect of competition would soon be seen in the increase of facilities for the rapid transit of persons and property from one side of the river to the other. Nothing will remedy the e

COLD WEATHER AND FROST BITES. - Tens of thousands of persons suffer annually with frosted limbs, when they could easily be cured by using Porter's Oriental Life Liniment.

Eight hundred bottles of this Liniment were sold at the principal depot in this city on Monday. the 5th of January, nearly every bottle of which was bought especially for the cure of frost-bite This great demand for the Oriental Life Liniment is in consequence of the universal success which has attended its use in the cure of frost-bites. It is a well-known fact that hundreds of old cases, of them ten to fifteen years' standing, have been perm ly cured by the use of this valuable remedy.

Sold wholesale and retail at 96 Third street. Also by all druggists and country merchants throughout jan 7 d&wj&b

MADAME BERTINI'S CONCERT. - This lady who omes to us with se fine a reputation as a vocalist gives her first concert to-night at Mozart Hall, onehalf of the proceeds of which will be given to the poor. We bespeak for the occasion the attendance of all our city friends, for they will be pleased by the delicious music, and will in addition have the satisfaction of knowing that they have done something for the relief of the destitute. Madame B. deserves well at our hands for her thoughtful remembrance of those who are suffering in our midst.

Gold Medal Piano-Fortes, MANUFACTURED BY STEINWAY & SONS.

D. P. FAULDS, Sole Agent in Southwest, 589 Main street. Just received from the manufactory a splendid assortment of these justly celebrated instruments. They have been awarded the first prize gold medais at the Crystal Palace (American Institute Fair), New York, in 1865 and 365, and also at the Maryland Institute, Baltimore, in competition with the best makers in New York, Beston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore. Among the judges were the first musical talent in this country, including Meers. Gettechalk, Mason, Wollenhaupt, and others, who declare them to be the best square Piano-Fortes ever made in this country.

These instruments I fully warrant to stand in any climate. They can be had of me, with or without iron frame, at the manufacturers prices.

Persons wishing a superb instrument should call and see those at my warerooms before purchasing elsewhere.

BAROMETER. Last night, 12 o'clock : To-day, 12 o'clock. THERMOMETER.

12 P. M. 7 A. M. 4º below 6 below THE RIVER AND WEATHER - Interruption of of Ferry communication to Jeffersonville and New Albany-River Gorged-Giving away of Ice-Damage and Dangerons Position of Boats, &c .- The very cold weather since yesterday has put an effectual stop to the running of the ferry-boats. The Jeffersonville boat has been trying to break through the ice since 10 o'clock this morning, but at 2 o'clock she was still in the middle of the river without making much progress.

The New Albany ferry has suspended her trips and persons are crossing the river on the ice.

Mr. Avery measured the thickness of the ice this morning between this point and Jeffersonville. Just below the tow-head it was from 6 to 8 inches thick, which is strong enough to admit of crossing with laden teams. Below where the ferryboat was running last night, it was two inches thick. The river is gorged this morning below NewAlbany, and this caused a rise of several feet at Portland, and floated off a large quantity of ice which had accumulated above. This ice came down with great force against the boats lying at Portland, and parted their lines.

The Virginia and Fanny Bullitt floated out into the stream without sustaining any damage. The A. L. Shotwell, which was lying between the Peter Tellon and a barge, had her guards and stauncheons very much broken, but sustained no other damage, and the R. J. Ward is aground on the wharf with COAL .- Messrs. Hyatt & Dravo expect to receive the first lot of coal from the boat purchased of Mr. Watson, to-night. They have already orders upon their books that will take them several days to fill. We believe that 55 cents per bushel has been established as the rate for the coal.

George T. Gray's case will be investigated in the city court to-morrow.

The following dispatch was received this morning by Mr. Cotton, the agent of the New York and Erie Railroad:

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21. New York and Erie Railroad open. Express trains arriving and departing. Very little snow on the line west of Binghampton.

Police Proceedings .- Thursday, Jan. 22. trio of miserable and forlorn individuals occupied the first notice of His Honor this morning. One of them, Elizabeth Bellwood, tells a pitiable tale of deception, &c., and charges her wandering from the paths of rectitude to the seductive influences of a prominent citizen. She was discharged, as were also John Starr, an erratic kind of lu-minary who had filled himself with fire water, and Wm. Fritz, who had an altercation with his wife The Judge was in a compassionate mood of mind, and hence the Black Maria departed empty.

But the juries summoned to try breach of ordinance warrants were not so lenient. The coal dealers suffered to a degree that will probably enhance the price of fuel. Messrs. W. & H. Crittenden were each fined $25 and costs, and Jos. Robb, J. Dravo, and P. Hyatt also suffered the penalty for not procuring licenses. Would it not be eminently proper to take the amount of these fines out in coal, and distribute it among the poor of the city?

It is reported that a duel took place on Saturday, near Columbia, South Carolina, between Messrs, Bryan and Pope, two members of the House from Charleston. At the first shot, Bryan was killed and Pope shot through the thigh.

To the Editors of the Louisville Bulletin: Gentlemen: Your city authorities seem to show a determination to ascertain, at least, where their sixty or seventy thousand shivering constituents can, in some future year obtain a sufficient and certain supply of coals. It is to be hoped that efficient action will follow promising resolutions. The report of Messrs. Monsarrat and Baird appears to lool only in the direction of Grayson county as the nearest coal locality to the line of the Nashville railroad. That there is coal in that county I have no question, and so there is or ocality to the line of the Nashville Faircoad. That there is coal in that county I have no question, and so there is on the margin of Harrison and Crawford counties, Ind., and probably opposite in Meade county, Ky., and only about thirty miles from Louisville. But can good and workable coal be found in any of these "outliers" of the coal field? A deal of money has been expended about Leavenworth in the expectation that the seam of coal, thin and imperfect at the out crop, would improve as it receded from the side of the out crop, would improve as it receded from the side of the hill. If a good four feet or even three feet seam has been found, and proved, in Grayson county, except near its western margin, I have nothing more to say. If not, I would suggest that the coal nearest the line of railroad, and available, is to be found in Breckinridge and Hancock counties; and, if the Ohio has ceased to be a navigable stream, a branch road connecting Louisville with the cleaginous coals of Breckinridge and the cheaper coals of Hancock, and pointing to the important and thrifty towns on the river banks below, might not be the least important work for your consideration.

BAD Fix.—A lad named Tracy, 14 years of age, on Saturday ferenoon last, was passing through Colt's Meadows, carrying the dinner of one of the workmen in the armory, and was passing along where the snow was about a foot deep, when he sud-denly found himself going down, down, down, he knew not where; but, to use his own expression, he thought he was "going to heaven or the other place, sure," When he struck bottom, he found himself in five feet of water at the bottom of a forty-foot in he feet of water at the bottom of a forty-root well, with a smooth brick wall all the way up. Fortunately, on coming to the surface of the water, he found a stout plank, upon which he supported himself for half an hour, calling for help; but no help came. Getting desperate, the boy out with his knife, and, while holding on with one hand to the plank, cut off his boots, tore off his coat and vest, and then, bracing his back upon one side of the well and his feet upon the other side, he commenced working his way up by inches. After struggling in this way for half an hour, he succeeded in reaching daylight completely exhaused, but thankful to escape with his life. His escape from death was emarkable under all the circumstan

The Golden Wedding of Stlvester and Tirzah Maxwell, of Claremont, Mass, was celebrated on Christmas day. The Greenfield Gazette says that neither of them has lived more than six miles from the birth place of either of the parties. Mr. Maxwell was born April 16, 1775, three days before the battle of Lexington. His father was lieutenant of the minute-men, and left home (in Bedford) with his company as soon as they heard the news of that battle, and lived at home no more till peace was secured and the army disbanded. Esq. Maxwell had a brother five years older than himself, who lived with his wife in Heath fifty-three years. That wife was the only person at this party, who was also at the wedding fifty years before. She is 86, and very active in body and mind. There were four older sisters, one of whom has written and published the life of her father, Col. Hugh Maxwell. Another sister was the mother of the Leavitt families of Charlemont, of which the Rev. Joshua Leavitt, of Charlemont, of which the Rev. Joshua Leavitt, of

The Pork Trade for the Week.—As a general thing the market has been firm during the week, and were it not for the scarcity of money, dealers having their means locked up in the large stocks now on hand, which they cannot ship for the want of transportation facilities, a large business would have been done for present delivery, as the most unbounded faith is exhibited in high prices. A large business has been done, however, for future delivery, as the most unbounded faith is exhibited in high prices. A large business has been done, however, for future delivery, the time ranging from the first of February to the middle of April.

The product of 600 hogs delivered at Peoria, Ill., was sold on 'Change, Monday, at $18, we understood, for mess pork, and 11½ cfor lard, 7c for bulk shoulder, and $4 or $24 or sides. The particulars of all these sales have been kept private; many of them strictly so. The time of delivery has been generally fixed upon the opening of navigation. The unfavorable advices from England seems to have little effect upon the minds of dealers.

Contracts for the delivery of lard, maturing in April, have been sold at 11½ c, and $11.80 was offered for one yearday and refused. $18 for mess pork for February delivery was offered and refused last evening. Lard has been quiet for present delivery at 11½ c, but holders are not pressing on the market. New bacon sides sold to the extent of 150 hhds at $6 for shoulders and $% c for shoulders and sides and but few sellers.

The following shows the receipts for the season and comparatively the two previous seasons: [From the Ciucinnati Price Current, of Jan. 21.1

THE LADIES ARE BECOMING MORE AND MORE alive every year to the importance of Fur Wrappings, which proves most conclusively that this is a progressive age. There is nothing that does so effectually protect them against the consequences of this changeable climate as Fursand there is nothing so comfortable, elegant, or durable. They can be had of HAYES, CRAIG, & CO. so cheap that it would be economy to purchase Fur instead of Volvet, Cloth, or Silk Cloaks.

We have still a few sets of Russian Sable, which we will dispose of so low that it would be an object to purchase them in mipsdamer.

EVENING BULLETIN.

A slave case, in which a gentleman from Macyland claims a fugitive, is causing considerable excitement in Philadelphia. Very few persons are admitted to the Court room, but among the privi-I eged few is Mrs. Lucretia Mott, the great Abolition woman's right orator.

No ARRESTS .- Mr. Thomas is about closing the watch-house, as no one appears inclined to seek she!ter in that hospitable quarter. There was not a single arrest yesterday, and the police reported the city as being unpleasantly quiet.

Crime and Mystery.—A case full of mystery and horror has recently come to light, and the police of this city and New York are now lusily engaged in straing the circumstances and putting them in order. We are not at liberty, at present, to state all the facts of the case, but we may premise that they abound in the horrible and the mysterious. The outline of the story is as follows: Two New Yorkers, who are krothers, married two Philadelphia ladies, who are sisters. The husbands in the course of time became enamored of each other's wives, and the sisters of each other's husbands. To add to the Frenchiness of the affair, one of the women contrived a plan to poison her husband, and a colored man was employed to procure the needful drug for the was employed to procure the needful drug for the

was employed to procure the needed drag surpose.

The colored man exposed the plot to the intended victim, and also told the circumstances to a female friend of his own, who in turn told it to the would-be-prisoner. To get rid of the black man he has been arrested in this city, by one of the wives, it is alleged, on a trumped up charge. If all the particulars ever reach the public, they will be found to present a tissue of domestic misery, crime, threats, and attempts to murder that would do credit to a French police report, or to a volume of "yaller kiver" literature. Fortunately no blood has yet been spilt, and the interference of the police may prevent further mischief.—Phil. Bulletin. further mischief .- Phil. Bulletin.

LADIES' FURS AT REDUCED PRICES LADIES' FURS AT REDUCED PRICES HAYES, CRAIG, & CO. are making quite a stir among the ladies in consequence of the low price of their Furs. Having on hand much too large a stock for the season, and much of it too fine for this market—at least the ladies think so—(they do not wish to humbug their customers by "solling at cost")—have reduced their prices very materially, and are now furnishing the ladies with Furs of everially, and are now furnishing the ladies with Furs of evefore retailed for in the Western country, and intend to do so until after Christmas, which will afford a good opportunity to all those who wish to make Christmas presents.
There certainly is nothing more seasonable for such purposes; and gentlemen inclined that way will find our Furs so low that they are within the reach of all.
